Revamped UKZN Skin Care Clinic

A STYLISH revamped skin clinic that promises quality and affordable care is based at King Edward VIII Hospital, Durban.

The University of KwaZulu-Natal’s Department of Dermatology recently revamped its skin care clinic.

The doctors and nurses take care of dermatological problems from skin, hair and nails. Sponsorships that amounted to R400 000 were received from various donors.

One of the donors, Luvuyo Mbikwana, who owns an interior design business, was motivated to help with renovations because he wanted patients to have quality facilities when faced with a medical problem.

“We wanted to change the ambience of the clinic, by making it more inviting and pleasing to the patients. It shouldn’t feel like a government hospital.”

“Instead, we wanted patients to know that their financial circumstances should not restrict the services they receive.”

The clinic is situated in the New Block parking available through Gate 8, off Rick Turner Road in Umbilo.
