RESPONSE TO THE MERCURY: APRIL FOOL’S DAY PRANK

The University of KwaZulu-Natal would like to distance itself from the contents of the article titled: Lecturers and homeowners asked to take in UKZN students, published on the front page on The Mercury on Monday 1 April. We are given to understand that The Mercury compiled and published the article as part of an April Fool’s Day prank. As we have stated, our priority is to ensure that students who have been affected by this unfortunate and unacceptable circumstance will be accommodated in an enabling environment that is conducive to learning and healthy social engagement. This matter is being addressed at the highest level.
